

Emo

Slow, mournful music. A boy is walking along a path. We only see him from the chest down. He is wearing distinctive baggy trousers, and carrying a note-book. Fade through black to the boy stopped in an underpass, and writing in the note-book. On the page, he has written "I hate my life" in large writing. Back out in the open, we see him knocked into by another boy, who grabs the book and tosses it away. The camera tracks it as it lands in a ditch.

Pieces of paper pinned to a cupboard, read "Emo - go kill yourself" and "Go home you fag." We see the boy come in to the room, and turn the corner to where the cupboard is. Seeing the pieces of paper, he tears them off the door and screws them up in frustration.

We see a sign on a door. The camera pans along it, to show that it says "Bullying counselor". We see the boy climbing a staircase and arriving in front of the door. He reads the sign, and raises his hand to knock, but then hesitates. Cut to text on screen: 'What would you do?'